POSITION WILL BE FILLED ON A ONE OR TWO YEAR VISITING SCIENTIST APPOINTMENT OR FEDERAL TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT.

Individuals wishing to apply for a permanent position see vacancy number E20030072.

The National Science Foundation is seeking a qualified candidate for a Program Director for the Elementary Particle Physics Program within the Division of Physics, Directorate for Mathematical and Physical Sciences, Arlington, VA.

The Division of Physics (PHY) supports a wide range of activities in the different sub-fields of physics. The primary mode of funding is to individual investigators or small groups. The division also funds the operation of two large-scale accelerator facilities (the Cornell Electron Storage Ring and the Michigan State University National Superconducting Cyclotron Laboratory), the Laser Interferometer Gravity Wave Observatory, several smaller scale accelerators, a number of centers in atomic, molecular, and optical physics and in theoretical physics; and a new program of Physics Frontiers Centers. More information about the Division and their programs can be found on their website at www.nsf.gov/mps/divisions/phy/start.htm.

The Elementary Particle Physics Program supports research on the properties and interactions of elementary particles, the most fundamental building blocks of matter, at the frontiers of energy and sensitivity. Research includes the exploration of quarks and leptons and the interactions among these elementary constituents. The program supports university groups working at major accelerator laboratories, including those operated by the Department of Energy, and university groups involved in the construction of detectors for the Large Hadron Collider at the European Organization for Nuclear Research (CERN).

This position will be filled on a one or two year Visiting Scientist Appointment or as a Federal Temporary Appointment. Temporary and Visiting Scientist appointments will be made under the Excepted Authority of the NSF Act with a current salary range of $81,602 - $127,168, depending on qualifications and experience.
